

How to sell a home that didnt sell the first time.: Can we start packing?

This is a tactical manual, a quick read that you can get through in a couple of settings. It was originally over 300 pages, but I decided to whittle it way down so people could get immediate results. If you want great literary style I recommend reading works by Sir Walter Scott or James Michener. This book is based on over 10 years experience in the real world of real estate, from boom to crash to recovery. I invested in education and training early on in my career from some of the best minds in real estate: Craig Proctor, Brian Buffini, etc, etc. The content is timely for the current market. This will help you choose the right agent for the job of selling your home THIS TIME.
