

Husbands How to Win Your Wives Love and Respect

You husbands play a far greater role of responsibility for the success of your marriage than is commonly acknowledged. Your deft leadership can make--or break your family. But do you even know there is such a role to play? That your leadership is key to your wife's attitude and love toward you? That YOU are the pivotal point in the marriage? That it is your headship or lack thereof that greatly influences the success of your family? This crucial understanding of headship is not taught today, thus the widespread breakdown in marriage. Feminist deny anything even remotely addressing this. To support such, in their terms, is antiquated thinking after all, this is the 21st century. Everyone can do his/her own thing which has resulted in disastrous relationships. So where does the modern man today get guidelines to carry out his role? And how does he skillfully carry out his headship? How does he earn the respect of his wife in handling family matters and what is her involvement? How are the multitudes of problems inherent in modern day marriage resolved? All these questions are answered in Marital Harmonics. It centers on an Org Chart of how marriage works best between husbands and wives guided by principles of what is right and in the best interest of the family. Learn HOW it works and WHY it works.
