

Graveyard of Champions, Saratoga Fallen Favorites

Man o War lost there. So did Secretariat. And so have a host of other champions who seemed a sure thing. Over the years, Saratoga Race Course in Saratoga Springs, New York, has gained a reputation as a place where heavy favorites lose with seeming regularity. The elite late-summer race meeting at the Spa attracts the best horses in the nation, increasing the chances that a big horse will be defeated in a major race - thus the tracks nickname the Graveyard of Champions. Author Bill Heller traces the history of this phenomenon from the racetracks beginnings in the 1860s to the present day. He examines the defeat of champions such as Hamburg, who went down at 1-3 in the Grand Union Hotel Stakes in 1897; Gallant Fox, defeated at 1-2 in the 1930 Travers; and Szymies 1947 loss at 2-5 in the Whitney Handicap. He also takes a look at the upsets of modern-day stars such as Lonesome Glory and Skip Away. Graveyard of Champions includes a foreword by Hall of Fame trainer Allen Jerkens. Dubbed the Giant Killer, he sent out Onion to defeat Secretariat in the 1973 Whitney Handicap.
