

Concrete Narratives

Concrete Narratives is a series of short stories that follow the lives of teenagers as they experience love and heartbreak for the first time. Navigating their way through life in a small town, the adolescents in Concrete Narratives try to figure out who they are whilst experiencing the hedonistic highs and crushing lows of youth. They experiment with different routes to happiness and freedom but always end up back where they started; walking on the same pavements through town and feeling the same emotions. These stories capture the raw reality of teen life in a provincial town.
