

What Women (And Men) Need To Know...: After a positively inconvenient pregnancy test result.

If you are in the midst of a tough circumstance one that involves a less than ideal pregnancy situation, you may be thinking abortion is your best or possibly only choice. Im here to tell you there are many options, resources and information out there to help you make the best decision. You may be experiencing panic, desperation, stress and anxiety along with many other emotions and thoughts flooding your mind you may even be considering the option of abortion. Can I just say YOU ARE NOT ALONE. I know you are not thinking of abortion because you want to end the life of your unborn baby. You are thinking abortion because you want to alleviate all of those earlier mentioned emotions. You are thinking about things like, money; school; acceptance of others; living arrangements; future plans and goals. Many have either been there; are currently in; or will be in a very similar situation. There is hope and a ton of help. For starters, the first step is for you to get a sonogram as soon as you are able to make sure you have a viable pregnancy. Even though the pregnancy test was positive, there are a reported 30% of pregnancies which end on their own. Society and our culture today points to all the reasons why you may believe you cant deal with this, driving you to look for a quick solution or easy fix. But is there such a thing? Is there anything that would make all those feelings and emotions go away and put everything back to normal? Reality is things have changed in some way regardless of what you choose. You may be standing at a crossroad where every path you have taken up to this point has not worked in the way you thought it would and everything your future holds now hinges on a decision you make in the here and now. Both roads may not be your typical easy street, but one has the evidence it will lead to heartache, loss and grief while the other one - although possibly challenging - will lead to some of your greatest joy. Before I go any further, please let me take a moment to say it is my most sincere intent to relay truthful information in a non-judgmental, non-condemning way. I am aware of the word abortion causing tension. It is, in most cases, a dark secret which may not want to be discussed for various reasons. It is a word which is associated with painful memories many may want to block out at all costs. So for this issue, while I am passionate about sharing the truth, I want to make sure I talk about it with much sensitivity. My hope is for this book to give you all the truth you need to know about abortion and its reality. With that said, I am not only for the life of the unborn, but LIFE for all - life for the baby, as well as, life for the mother and father. I am more than aware of issues plaguing our culture today regarding sexual exploitation & trafficking, child abuse & neglect, poverty, hunger, inequality & racial divide and so on there are SO many issues in our broken world. I want to make sure I not only provide you with all the information you need to make an informed decision about your baby, but also point you in the direction of resources to help you and your family going forward. Whether it is based on religious beliefs or scientific conclusions, anything shared will have a foundation based on truth - truth which is actual & factual and NOT relative but absolute. Hopefully you will feel more at ease, supported, empowered and informed on truth.
