

The NICU Through A Mothers Eye

After the surgery was over, my mom left the OR and I was left laying on the table, I felt alone. They finally asked if I wanted to see my daughter and I said yes. All of a sudden, I see this little see through house. I dont know what it was called because I have never seen one before. I looked through the window and all I see are blankets. The nurses ask if I can see her. I respond no. So they try and move her closer. I look as hard as I can through this little house and I see nothing. I feel so empty at that moment. Im not happy, or sad, just empty inside.
